

AIMING HIGH: Swish Property Group, developer of the "tallest building on Cape Town's West Coast", is on top of the world with the recent announcement that its development, Horizon Bay, a 23-storey residential development, was named "best South African high-rise development" at the annual CNBC International Property Awards. This places first-time entrants Swish on par with the developers of New York's Trump Towers, which won the US category.
